

Faculty Review of Open eTextbooks

The California Open Educational Resources Council has designed and implemented a faculty review process of the free and open etextbooks showcased within the California Open Online Library for Education (www.cool4ed.org). Faculty from the California Community Colleges, the California State University, and the University of California were invited to review the selected free and open etextbooks using a rubric. Faculty received a stipend for their efforts and funding was provided by the State of California, the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

Please provide comments on any aspect of the subject matter of this textbook:

- This is not an introductory programming textbook!! It is a programming languages book used at many schools for their programming languages class. It originated at Brown where it has pre-requisites which include Intro to CS and Data Structures.
- This book can never be considered appropriate for COMP-122; it does not cover the objectives of the class. At all.
- I marked N/A to avoid a situation where an instructor might review the score without reading the review. I hope no one attempts to use this book. In fact, it would be best if Cool4Ed removed this book entirely.
